Scores Accepted by Schools

Before registering for the GMAT™ exam, you are responsible for confirming the application, admissions, and related eligibility requirements of all schools and programs to which you may be interested in applying, including, but not limited to, confirming whether the schools and programs accept scores for the GMAT exam delivered at a test center, the GMAT exam delivered online, or both. You understand that GMAC does not maintain this information, that you are responsible for confirming any requirements directly with the applicable schools and programs, and that no exam fee refunds will be issued if you are deemed ineligible for admission into a school or program.

Test Ownership and Confidentiality

GMAT™ scores and responses to test questions are measurement information and are part of your test record. These and other test records are owned by GMAC. They are not the property of the test taker. The use, reporting, and cancellation of scores are subject to various rights and restrictions as indicated in these GMAT Policies and Procedures. The various components of the GMAT exam, including, but not limited to, the GMAT test questions, software, and algorithms, are the valuable intellectual property of GMAC and/or our test delivery service providers, whose rights include copyright, patent, trademark, and/or trade secret rights. These rights are protected. In particular, the test questions administered are valuable, copyright protected property and trade secrets of GMAC. You must maintain the confidentiality of all test questions administered to you during the test. A disclosure of test questions in any form by any means violates this confidentiality obligation.

Any unauthorized access, reproduction, distribution, or disclosure of test questions or answers before, during, or after you take the GMAT exam is a violation of US and international intellectual property laws and treaties and of your confidentiality obligations. GMAC will pursue all available remedies (including, but not limited to, those enumerated in the GMAT Policies and Procedures), which may include prosecution to the maximum extent possible under applicable laws and may result in severe civil and criminal penalties. We reserve the right to cancel or withhold any test scores when, in our judgment, a testing irregularity occurs.

GMAT™ Test Administration Policies and Procedures

[FOR GMAT EXAM DELIVERED AT A TEST CENTER]

Test administration begins at check-in (when you walk into the test center doors), ends at checkout, and includes one (1) optional break. Test administrators (also sometimes referred to as proctors) are required to report any violation of testing policies or procedures, any testing issue, or any other irregularity. If you refuse to participate in any part of the check-in process, you will not be permitted to test, and you will forfeit your test fee.

- When you check in at the test center, the test administrator will ask you to present valid, original identification. You may not present tampered or altered identification. See the “Identification Requirements” section for specific identification requirements.
- The test administrator will also ask you to confirm your agreement to the GMAT™ Test

Taker Rules & Agreement.

- The test administrator will digitally take your photograph and palm vein pattern (except where collection is prohibited by law).
- The testing premises are subject to audio and video and other monitoring.
- Before you start the GMAT exam at a test center workstation, you will also be asked to agree to comply with the GMAT™ Non-Disclosure Agreement and General Terms of Use. Electronic confirmation of your agreement is required.
- You must take the test for yourself. You must not test for anyone else or have another person test for you.
- Personal items, including, but not limited to, wallets, purses, bags, hats, watches, large jewelry, and hair clips, and coats are not permitted in the testing room; limited storage space is available. You must refrain from storing items in any unauthorized areas, including restrooms, hallways, emergency exits, etc.
- No devices or testing aids may be used or accessed during the test session or during the break. If you bring any notes, study materials, or any other written materials into the test center prior to the start of your exam, you must store them in your locker, if there is a locker available for your use at the test center, until you have completed your exam. If your test center does not have a locker available for your use, you may not bring any notes, study materials, or any other written materials into the test center. You may not refer to these materials after check-in, including during your test session and your optional break. Prohibited devices and testing aids include, but are not limited to: pencils, pens, permanent markers, paper, chalkboards, writing tablets, books, pamphlets, notes (including writing on articles of clothing or on one's body), rulers, calculators, watch calculators, ear plugs, earbuds, head phones, stereos, radios, digital music players, telephones or mobile phones, stopwatches, watches (including digital, analog, and those with flashing lights or alarm sounds), and any other electronic or photographic devices or potential aids of any kind.
- Weapons, including, but not limited to, firearms, knives, or any object that could be used as a weapon, are prohibited from the test center, including the testing room and waiting areas. These items are not allowed on the premises and may not be stored in the provided lockers. This policy includes off-duty law enforcement officers and persons with concealed carry or concealed handgun permits. Only emergency personnel responding to an incident in a test center are excluded from this policy.
- Access to telephones, mobile phones, other electronic devices, watches, books, notes, or study guides will not be permitted at the test center at any time, including during the test session and during the break. If you need to check the time, ask the test administrator and/or check the clock in the check-in area. Violation of this policy could lead to confiscation of the prohibited devices or materials by the test administrator and/or cancellation of your scores.
- You may bring ONLY your identification, locker key (if applicable), a light sweater or jacket (non-outerwear), prescription eyeglasses, without the case, including tinted lenses, and permitted comfort items with you into the testing room. For a list of permitted comfort items, please visit the “Allowed and Prohibited Items” section on the following page: <https://www.mba.com/exams/gmat-exam/plan-for-exam-day/taking-the-exam-at-a-test-center>. Comfort items will be allowed in the testing room upon visual inspection by the test administrator.

- The test administrator will provide you with the equivalent of five erasable noteboards. If you fill up your noteboards during the test, please raise your hand; the test administrator will collect the noteboards you have and give you replacements. You must not remove the noteboards from the testing room, and you must return them to the test administrator after the test.
- Testing must begin promptly once you are seated at the computer. You may start writing on your noteboard once the timed portion of your exam begins, not before. The length of your appointment is approximately two and one-half (2.5) hours.
- One (1) optional ten-minute break is scheduled during the test administration. If you exceed the time allowed for the break, the excess time will automatically be deducted from the next section of the test, or the test administrator may consider your test to be abandoned and your score will be canceled.
- Personal items, including food, drink, gum, candy, and lip balm, are not allowed in the testing room unless expressly pre-authorized for a disability. You may store food, drink, and lip balm in a locker (if available for your use at the test center) and use them during the break.
- You may not communicate with anyone about the content of the GMAT exam while the test session is in progress, during the break, or after administration of the test. Removing or attempting to remove test content from the test center is strictly prohibited. Under no circumstances may any part of the test content viewed during a test administration be removed, reproduced, and/or disclosed in any form by any means (for example, verbally, in writing, or electronically) to any person or entity at any time. This includes, but is not limited to, discussing or disclosing such test content via email; in any internet “chat room,” message board, or other forum; or otherwise. This disclosure prohibition applies before, during, and after any administration of the GMAT exam.
- You will not be permitted to leave the testing room without the test administrator’s permission. You will be required to provide a digital palm vein pattern scan any time you enter the testing room to match the identity verified at registration (except where prohibited by law).
- During the break, you are not allowed to leave the test center building. You are only allowed to remain in the designated locations during your break, namely the locker area (if applicable), the test center lobby (check-in area), and the nearest restroom.
- You may not leave your workstation while timed sections of the test are being administered. If there is an emergency and you must leave your seat during the test session, raise your hand and notify the test administrator. The time clock for the test section you are working on will not stop during your absence. Repeated or lengthy departures from your workstation will be documented, reported by the test administrator, and investigated by GMAC and its test delivery service providers.
- Raise your hand to notify the test administrator if you believe you have a problem with your computer, need new noteboards or a noteboard pen, or need the test administrator for any other reason.
- You may not read questions aloud or mumble/speak during the exam session other than to ask the test administrator a question.

- You must act in a manner that does not disturb, interfere with, or threaten other test takers or test administrators.
- Disrespectful or disruptive behavior in any form will not be tolerated. The test administrator has sole discretion in determining what constitutes disrespectful or disruptive behavior.
- The test administrator is authorized to dismiss you from a test session for various reasons, including, without limitation: providing false information, attempting to take the test for someone else, failing to provide acceptable identification, possessing unauthorized personal items or testing aids, disrupting the testing environment, refusing to comply with the test administrator’s reasonable requests, giving or receiving unauthorized help, attempting to tamper with the operation of the computer, refusing to follow directions, being disrespectful to the test administrator, or failing to adhere to any other procedures, policies, or rules. The test administrator is also authorized to confiscate any and all unauthorized items found in a test taker’s possession in violation of applicable policies. GMAC and our test delivery service providers reserve the right to determine whether such items will be returned.

Score Cancellations by GMAC

Testing issues and policy violations may result in score cancellations and other consequences. We will report your scores to schools/programs ONLY if you follow all the GMAT Policies and Procedures. We also reserve the right to cancel or withhold any test scores when, in our judgment, there is a good faith basis to question the validity of a score for any reason. We do our best to cancel scores as soon as possible; however, we may discover information that leads us to question the validity of a score and cancel it after a score has been reported.

When scores are canceled by GMAC, score reports may have special notations in the place of actual test scores, indicating the nature of the incident. If a provision in this “Score Cancellations by GMAC” section conflicts with any other term or condition on our website, in any FAQs, or anywhere else, this “Score Cancellations by GMAC” section shall control.

Types of Score Cancellations

Testing Issues – “T”

Scores may be canceled by GMAC, in its sole discretion, due to a “Testing Issue.” A score canceled for a Testing Issue will be noted on the Official Score Report as a “T,” and schools may be notified that the score was canceled for a Testing Issue. Testing Issues refer to events that affect the administration of an exam. When Testing Issues occur, they may affect multiple test takers.

Reasons scores may be canceled due to a Testing Issue include, but are not limited to:

- Administrative or technical errors
- Registration or payment errors
- An issue that compromises the integrity of the testing environment
- An issue that causes us to question the validity of a score

In the case of a score being canceled for a Testing Issue, GMAC may offer the candidate a remedy, in GMAC’s sole discretion, which may include: (1) the option to retest at no additional charge; (2) the option to retest subject to payment of the testing fee; or (3) a refund of the examination fee, subject to the terms provided by GMAC. If a retest is offered and a candidate selects that option, the candidate must retake the entire exam in order to produce a valid score. GMAC, at its sole discretion, may also require candidates to take or retake the GMAT exam at a test center.

Policy Violations – “P”

Scores may be canceled by GMAC, in its sole discretion, due to a “Policy Violation.” A score canceled for a Policy Violation will be noted on the Official Score Report as a “P” and will result in the candidate’s forfeiture of test fees.

Reasons scores may be canceled due to a Policy Violation include, but are not limited to:

- Accessing unauthorized materials or devices
- Mouting questions or reading questions out loud

- Failure to follow the test administrator’s instructions
- Disrespectful or disruptive behavior
- Non-compliance with any applicable policy, term, or condition
- An issue that compromises the integrity of the testing environment
- An issue that causes us to question the validity of a score
- Violating retake policies

In the case of a score being canceled for a Policy Violation, GMAC may take appropriate actions against the candidate, in GMAC’s sole discretion, which may include: (1) canceling their score on any or all GMAC assessments; (2) enforcing a minimum 31-day wait to retake; (3) notifying schools; (4) forfeiture of test fees; (5) prohibiting the candidate from taking a GMAC online assessment; (6) banning the candidate from testing for up to five years on all GMAC assessments; and/or (7) taking legal action against the candidate. GMAC, at its sole discretion, may also require candidates to take or retake the GMAT exam at a test center.

Serious Policy Violations – “S”

Scores may be canceled by GMAC, in its sole discretion, due to a “Serious Policy Violation.” A score canceled for a Serious Policy Violation will be noted on the Official Score Report as a “S” and will result in the candidate’s forfeiture of test fees.

Reasons scores may be canceled due to a Serious Policy Violation include, but are not limited to:

- Egregious or repeated instances of the behaviors listed under Policy Violations and/or any of the rules or other terms and conditions referenced in the GMAT Policies and Procedures
- Falsifying the candidate’s identity, identification, score, or score report
- Taking the test for others, having someone take the test on the candidate’s behalf, and/or the use of any programs, applications, or software to answer questions on the test (including, but not limited to, any generative artificial intelligence tools)
- Improperly accessing, recording, copying, or disclosing test content prior to, during, or after the test administration
- Using any unauthorized software or hardware, including, but not limited to, VPN, remote desktop applications, or virtual machines
- Inappropriate or profane behavior towards the test administrator
- Providing fraudulent payment or payment cancellation
- Paying for the test with a fraudulent voucher or a fraudulent fee waiver
- Any policy violation we deem to be serious non-compliance with any applicable policy, term, or condition
- An issue that compromises the integrity of the testing environment
- An issue that causes us to question the validity of a score
- Failure to comply with the test administrator’s requests to rule out suspicious behaviors and/or any other breach of the rules or other terms and conditions referenced in the GMAT Policies and Procedures

In the case of a score being canceled for a Serious Policy Violation, GMAC may take appropriate actions against the candidate, in GMAC’s sole discretion, which may include: (1) canceling their score on any or all GMAC assessments; (2) enforcing a minimum one-year wait to retake; (3) notifying schools; (4) forfeiture of test fees; (5) prohibiting the candidate from taking a GMAC online assessment; (6) banning the candidate from testing for life on all GMAC assessments; and/or (7) taking legal action against the candidate. GMAC, at its sole discretion, may also require candidates to take or retake the GMAT exam at a test center.

Appeals and Notifications to Schools

If a candidate believes we should review a decision we made about their exam, the candidate may request an appeal by contacting the GMAC Test Security Team. To submit an appeal, reply to the notice received from the GMAC Test Security Team within seven (7) days from the date of GMAC's original decision. When submitting an appeal, you must provide truthful and complete information and details regarding your test administration. Under certain circumstances, we may shorten or extend the seven (7) day appeal period. The appeal period will be specified in the notice you receive from the GMAC Test Security Team. After the appeal period expires, the score cancellation decision will be final, and any school you have sent scores to will be notified of this decision. The appeal process is an internal examination, offered to candidates at GMAC's discretion. GMAC will not disclose information that may hinder test security.

GMAC, in its sole discretion, determines the outcome of an appeal. Outcomes may include denial, reinstatement of the original score, or change in the reason for cancellation, which may include the opportunity to retest.

There are circumstances in which a candidate's scores may be canceled or withheld without prior notice or an opportunity to appeal. Those circumstances typically involve, but are not limited to, disruptions by the candidate during exam administration, advance disclosure of exam content, and cases in which the candidate is observed violating exam policies and/or is dismissed from the test. In these situations, the candidate may simply be informed that their scores are canceled or invalidated.

IMPORTANT! Scores are canceled if there is a good faith reason to question their validity. GMAC may cancel scores even if the test taker is not directly involved in the policy violation or testing issue.

The remedies stated in these policies are the exclusive remedies available to a candidate and are determined in GMAC's sole discretion.
